

CHAD E. FOSTERINTRODUCTION

Our speaker today was the first blind person to graduate from the Harvard Business School leadership program, develop software Oracle said was impossible and generated countless jobs and billions of dollars in the business world. He has spoken internationally to leaders from organizations that include Bank of America, Google, GE, and Microsoft. Becoming an avid snow skier after he lost his sight, Chad challenges traditional ideas of peak performance and change, while showing you how to take advantage of your disadvantages. His tough minded matter-of-fact attitude has helped him develop what he calls BLIND AMBITION. Please give a warm welcome for Chad Foster.
